

COVID-19 Update

March 27, 2020

Friends, Partners, Customers:

Prior to the "shelter in place" orders put in place in response of the COVID-19 pandemic, BlowHard had taken precautionary action to safeguard our employees and ensure our continued support to our first responders during and those serving those in need in our communities. Those who can work from home do so, and production work is isolated with shifts around the clock and isolated work stations sanitized regularly. Our commitment to excellence in all aspects of product, support, and service remains unchanged.

While the COVID-19 pandemic continues to impact the health and businesses in our communities, we will be working tirelessly with our team and partners to deliver orders in a timely manner as possible. We are committed more than ever to doing what it takes to provide the necessary service to those responding to our communities in need during this unprecedented time.

We sincerely wish for everyone to be well and be safe.

Best Regards,
